Tuo of Them Make Holes in Nickel Steel Plate as Clean Cut as if Bored with an Auger-The Shots Are Scarcely Injured. The initial test of Holtzer armor-piercing shot, manufactured in this country, was made at the Sandy Hook proving ground yesterday. Two of them were fired at a nine-inch armor plate, and the result was highly satisfactory as e both plate and shot.

Holtzer shot are the invention of Edouard O. Brustlein, a Frenchman, and derive their name com the makers, whose factory is in eastern France. The shot is considered the standard n Europe, and is used by almost every Govarnment but Germany. Shortly after estab-mshing the plant in Russia a similar plant was established at the works of the Midvale Steel Company of Philadelphia, with the exclusive right of manufacture in this hemisphere. Mr. Brustlein came to this country to superintend the work. When the Ordnance Department advertised for improved armor-piercing shot, the Midvais Company received a contract for several hundred Holtzer shot. Of the first lot of seventy-three, three were submitted for test. Two of them were tried yeserday. They were 8 inches in diameter, 28.2 inches long, and weighed 300 pounds. They were fired from an 8-inch sea-cost defence rife against a nickle, oil-tempered, and annealed steel plate made at the Bethlehem works The plate was Sfeet 4 inches long and C feet wide. Before the tests were made a series of five shots were fired through the wire screens to determine the charge of powder necessary to produce the required velocity of 1,625 feet a second. The approved charge was 100 pounds of brown prismatic powder. Capt. Frank Heath of the Ordnance Department was in charge and Lieut. Wheeler of the artillery superintended the firing. James F. Sullivan. Vice-President of the Midrale Steel artillery superintended the firing. James F. Sullivan. Vice-President of the Midrale Steel Company, Fdward S. W. Farnum, who is in charge of the ordnance branch of the company; Major J. P. Sanger, Assistant Inspector-General, U. S. A.: Capt. David A. Lyle, U. S. A.: inventor of the life-saving line gun and super-intendent of the Government work at the Midvale Steel Company shops; Lieut. Edward St. John Greble, U. S. Artillery, and Henry B. Levis, director of the Carpenter Steel Company of Reading, Pa., were present.

The first Holtzer shot was fired at about 3 o'clock at the upper left corner of the plate. The shot was an excellent one striking the painted bull's-eye, and passing through the Pinches of steel, 39 inches of oaken backing, and burying itself somewhere in the sand. The perforation in the plate was as if made with an auger. The edges that had curled up and outward from the strain showed the blue tings, denoting that the plate at that point had been heated to 400° temperature by the force of the impact. An S-inch circular mark about the hole also indicated the great heat. There were no cracks radiating from the shot hole, and it was considered by the officers present to be a remarkable exhibition of the qualities of the plate. As it was impossible to find the projectile to ascertain the injury done to it, another shot was fired at the lower left corner of the plate, so the shot could be dug from the sand. It was supposed the first had gone clear across the Hook.

The second shot developed the same cham-supposed the first had gone clear across the Hook.

The second shot developed the same chamber pressure as the first, 23,460 pounds to the square inch, and the shot made exactly the same sort of hole. The plate was perfect, except for the two symmetrical holes at the ton and bottom of the left portion. After some difficulty the workmen found the second shot. When the calipers and measure were applied to it there was found to be a difference of five-thousandths of an inch in the diameter of the shot, and it had been shortened by about two-thousandths. The officers gave exclamations of surprise when they ascertained the shot was practically perfect. The sharp point had not been blunted in the least, and but for the torn copper rifting band, which can be removed, it could have been fired again. Owing to the success of the two shots the third was not fired. Capt. Heath said he had never seen such a successful test before, and that it seemed almost incredible that a shot could sustain such a successful test before. In the third was not fired. Capt. Heath said he had never seen such a successful test before, and that it seemed almost incredible that a shot could sustain such a successful test before, and that it seemed almost incredible that a shot could sustain such a successful test before, and that it seemed almost incredible that a shot could sustain such a severe test and retain its shape. The officers of the steel company were highly pleased with the test. The company will soon submit a series of lots of 8 and 10 inch shot.

ANOTHER BIG DAY AT THE FAIR. The New Yorkers Still Help to Swell the

CHICAGO, Sept. 5.-Another great crowd was registered at Jackson Park to-day. New York's crowds are still here, and the Wisconsin and Pennsylvania folks, who will have their respective days to-morrow and Thursday, and the California and Utah people, who will celebrate on Saturday, are beginning to arrive. The Welsh Eisteddfod, which began to-day. attracted a great many people. The Venetian festival on the lagoons to-night also attracted a big crowd.

Gov. Flower and the distinguished New Yorkers were at the Fair again to-day. The Governor, however, had already seen about all the sights at the Exposition, and did not ter Jackson Park until afternoon, when he went to the New York building for the purpose of reviewing the parade of fine horses that passed at 24 o'clock. With the Governor at the review were the members of his staff and a number of the Empire State and New York city officials. The New Yorkers made no attempt to keep together, and are bent upon seeing the Fair to the best advantage. At the same time invitations to the various social affairs are pouring into the New York building, and there is no lack of entertainment for these who like it.

anairs are bouring into the New York building, and there is no lack of entertainment for those who like it.

Thus far Gov. Flower has accepted but one formal invitation. That was for to-night, when the Sons of New York, a very strong organization in Chicago, with ex-Mayor De Witt C. Crenier at its head, tendered a reception to him at the New York State building. Gov. Altgeld made the address of welcome, which was responded to by Gov. Flower. A collation was served immediately after the reception ceremonies in the green room off the Auditorium. Dancing in the Auditorium began at 10 o clock. The World's Fair efficials, a number of prominent Chicagoans, and all the visiting New Yorkers attended the reception.

Gov. Patrison, accompanied by his staff, the famous City Troop of Philadelphia, and the first battalion of the naval reserves, arrived to-day. Gov. Pattison and his staff went to the Chicago Beach Hotel, while the soldiers and the havel reserves camped in a field near by. They will act as an easort to the State officials at the Pennsylvania celebration at the Fair on Thursiay. GLAD TO BE IN JAIL.

Farmer Barrett Thankful to be Saf: from the Avengers of the Boys He Shot. Nursing a battered head, a broken nose, and a damaged jaw. Farmer William Barrett, who fired into a crowd of village boys in Blissville on Monday afternoon, killing 10-year-old John Eagan and wounding thirteen-year-old David Crawford, sits in his cell in the Queens county jail in Long Island City thankful that he is alive. He is also thankful that great atone walls and heavy iron bars stand between him and the indignant villagers who attempted to wreak summary vengeance on him directly after the tragedy.

Only once yesterday did Barrett leave his cell. This was when under escort he was arraigned before Justice Kavanagh. The court room was packed with spectators, some of whom had participated in the attack on the prisoner the night before. There was no outbreak, however, when Barrett sullenly took his place before the Justice. His powerful angular form rose high above those who surrounded him. A few brief questions were put and answered, and the prisoner was then conducted back to the jail to swait the result of the Coroner's inquest, which begins in McLaughlin's Hall to-morrow night.

When seen in his cell some time later by a reporter he said he fired at the boys because they were throwing stones at him. He fired only to scare them, and did not see the two lads whom he shot. He fired but once, and then over the heads of the boys he did see.

At the autopsy on the dead boy yesterday thirty-six shots were found in his lungs, and three shots had nunctured the heart. The Crawford boy, who was thought to be badly wounded, was reported to be doing well yesterday.

The boys were playing ball on a common PARMER BARRETT. terday.

The boys were playing ball on a common adjoining Barrett's pasture field when he fired at them. It said they made a practice of annoying him and throwing stones at his cattle.

LITTLE WILLIE ON ACTOR'S ALLEY Breaks Two Dramatic Critics All Up and

There is a rialto in Chinatown. It runs from the front door of Jim Lavelle's saloon in Chinese theatre is at the lower end of the the righto is crowded with Celestial swells and their American sweethearts. Since the Chinese theatre opened the actors there have been the kings of the rialto.

Early yesterday morning before the average

Celestial had opened his eyes Won Ying of 9 Pell street and Chin Sam of 32 met in front of 12. Together they walked around the corner of Doyers street down the rialto.

"Gwuen Buy Foo is a great actor," remarked Won Ving casually.

"Not so," sald Chin Sam. "He is a hamfatter."

"Gwuen Buy Foo is a great actor." remarked Won Ying casually.

"Not so," said Chin Sam. "He is a hamfatter."

"Chin Sam, you are mistaken." said Wong Ying. "Gwuen Buy Foo is a great actor. You are no judge."

"Mokk! hi!" shouted Chin Sam in a rage. "You lie!"

Instantly Won Ying squatted on the pavement. Chin Sam did the same thing. Edging cautiously about over the cold stones the two Chinamen glared at each other. Chuck Connors and Jim Lavelle's goat happened by andistopped to watch the fun. Suddenly Wong Ying slid up close to Chin Sam and let fly his right foot. It caught Chin Sam over the left ear. Chin Sam staggered. Wong Ying followed up his advantage and landed his left toes twice and his right heel once, getting away before Chin Sam could land on him.

Then the fighters paused for a few minutes. Chin Sam pointed back over Won Ying's shoulder. Won Ying looked around. Instantly Chin Sam landed his left foot on Won Ying's nose and countered with his right heel on Won Ying's nose and countered with his right heel on Won Ying's nose and countered with his right heel on Won Ying's left ear. The two men closed, and for a time they seemed to be all feet. After four minutes of hot infighting Won Ying was very groggy.

Then Jim Lavelle's goat. Little Willie, stretched out his head, and Chin Sam mamped to his feet with a yell. Willie did the same thing to Won Ying, with similar result. Then he turned on the crowd.

The crowd melted, and Policeman Mike Keho of the Elizabeth street station turned the corner of Peli street just in time to meet Willie. Policemen are not allowed to swear while on duty. When Willie got through with Keho the latter hurried toward Chin Sam, who had a piece of iron pipe, and was striking wildly at Won Ying. Keho arrested both Chinamen and took them to the Tombs Court, where Justice Meade held them in $300 each for examination to-morrow.

Meade held them in $300 each for examina tion to-morrow.

Willio, the peacemaker, followed Chuck Con-nors into Jim Lavelle's, and the rialto resumed the peaceful tenor of its way.

FORGERIES, BATES SAYS.

The Marriage Contract and Love Letters Produced by Miss McGrath.

Horwitz & Hershfield, attorneys for the young woman who says she is the wife of Charles F. Bates, exhibited yesterday certain letters and a marriage contract to substantiate her claim. The contract, they say, was written by Mr. Bates himself, and signed by him and Mise McGrath in the blue room of his father's house at Newport. It is in a bold, steady hand, and reads as follows:

This is to certify that Annette F. McGrath is my true and beloved wife, whom I love, honor, and cherian.

CHARLES F. BITTA.

New York, July 16, 1890.

ASSETTE F. McGrath.

The first advertisement of the marriage pubished by Miss McGrath gave July 17, 1879, as lished by Miss McGrath gave July 17, 1839, as the date; the second gave July 17, 1830. The lawyers have a bunch of letters in apparently the same handwriting as the marriage contract. One is dated Sept. 21, 1830, and written on a letter head of the Newport Reading Hoom. It begins "My darling wife" and ends with "Your loving husband. Charley." Another, without date, bears the address of Bates's father's place of business, 198 Greene street, begins like the last, and is signed "Believe me, your own husband. Charlle." In this letter the writer said: "Several of the boys have had drinks, but paps has not had any yet." Another was signed "Ever your loving papa." Mr. Horwitz said that the reason the entire contents of the letters are not made public is that men conspicuous in New York who were friends of Bates's were mentioned in them, and there was no reason for drawing their names into the affair. He said that Miss McGrath intends to bring suit against Bates for abandonment and failure to support.

Mr. Horwitz declined to talk about the marriage ceremony, which is said to have been performed by a priest and apparently the day after the contract was signed.

Mr. Bates, when seen last evening denounced the contract and letters as forgeries. He said:

"The woman had access to my office, and no the date; the second gave July 17, 1850. The

He said:
"The woman had access to my office, and no doubt appropriated some of the letter heads there. She has no claim whatever on me."

THE MURDER OF EMIN PASHA.

SOME FURTHER PARTICULARS GIFEN BY MIL SWANN.

The Missionary Knows the Young Arab who Killed the Explorer Reasons Why There is No Longer Hope that He is Alive LONDON, Sept. 5.-The Rev. A. J. Swann, the Ujiji missionary who yesterday made publican account of Emin Pasha's death, said in an interview this morning:

"I am unable to give all the actual incidents of Dr. Emin's death. The narrative made public by me yesterday contained about all the details of the murder as I learned them.
"The immediate cause of the Arab hostility to Emin was their belief that he had hanged summarily six Arabs at the southwest end of Victoria Nyanza. Ilt is known that he did hang three Arabs.! This story was never denied and was accepted as true even by the Europeans. When Fmin was murdered be was separated from his caravan and was travelling with thirty Nubian followers toward the west coast, in order that he might avoid the eastern Arabs. who he knew were on his track. He had passed through Ruanda, and he followed a branch of the Congo until he arrived at Said bin Abed's. "There was no fighting at the time of the murder. The incident was of the briefest duration. The actual murderer was a young Arab with whom I am personally acquainted. He is a son of Dr. Livingston's old Arab friend, whom 'Old Tanganyika.' Beyond doubt Emin's body was eaten, as were the bodies of his followers All the heads were stuck on poles and were paraded about, as is the custom among the Manyema. These people are notorious cannibals-in fact, will est anything human. During my sojourn in Ujiji we lost a Belgian member of the European colony. All search for him was futile. We learned nothing of his fate until a Belgian party found the finere of a European in a Manyema cookpot. Inquiry showed that the Manyema had kidnapped him and killed him. A Belgian force at once raided the Manyema country, routed the Araba, and destroyed the Manyema village where their comrade had been saten."

CHICAGO, Sept. 5.—Dr. Carl Peters, who is now in this city, says:

"I am not ready to accept the report of Emin Pasha's death. Mr. Swann's account differs from the previous ones in that it professes to give details, but to my mind that is no evidence.

"Since I left Africa last May, which would be about the time that Mr. Swann left Uiji for the coast, authoritative information had been received that Emin was living penceably with the Arabs on the borders of the Congo country, awaiting supplies and money to discharge his obligations and return to the coast. The only thing in Mr. Swann's interview that would confirm the report is the fact that Emin is in the Manyema country, and the Manyemas are cannibals." member of the European colony. All search the Manyema country, and the Manyemas are cannibals."

There is nothing new in the statements made by Mr. Swann except that he gives some details not hitherto published. We might be justified in hoping that the story of Emin's death was false if the details Swann brings from Africa were the first version of the matter. But substantially the same story has been sent to Europe again and again for six months past, from Victoria Nyanza, from Tanganyika, and from the Congo Arabs. They all agree that Emin was killed eleven months ago. There is nothing whatever at this late day upon which to base a particle of hope that Dr. Emin is still alive, and the reasons for believing him dead are so overwhelming that they have convinced his friends in Europe, the white men in Central Africa, and the most careful commentators upon African affairs. The Manyema cannibals inhabit a large district west of the middle part of Lake Tanganyika. Like most cannibals, they were very careful not to reveal their liking for human flesh to the white men who first visited them Livingstone. Cameron, and Stanley passed through their country and wrote long accounts of them, but they did not discover that the great tribe were cannibals. That fact was revealed by later travellers at a time when white men were able to cultivate the closer acquaintance of the savages.

For years paat the Manyema have been armed with guns, and utilized extensively by the Arabs in their slave-stealing raile. Tippu Tib supplied a lot of Manyema to Capt. Earticlot of the Emin relief exuedition, and it was one of these natives that killed Earttelot.

GRAVEN'S LETTER TO HIS WIFE. He Asked Her to Publish His Book and Sald There Was Money in It.

DENVER, Sept. 5.-Attorney Macon, representing the widow of T. Thacher Graves, the suicide, has asked the County Commissioners to ignore the dying request of Dr. Graves that Graves's travelling expenses East. The ideal's repulsive to the widow, who says that her brothers will pay all expenses. The body is now being embalmed and the veins and arteries are full of poisonous fluid. An autopsy, therefore, is now impossible, and it can never ries are full of poisonous fluid. An autopsy, therefore, is now impossible, and it can never be known with what drug Graves ended his life. Notable passages in Dr. Graves's letter to his wife, first published to-day, are as follows;

"You will soon find hosts of friends who will advise you when I am gone. I want to begin preparing for that course which I have fully determined on. If Stevens gets the money from the County Commissioners. It is no use, kitty, for me to use up every cent we have fighting him. I must leave something for you and mother. Kitty dear. I do hope you will get all of the Barnaby legacy and make a good thing on the book. You will if you will rush it through while the public are ready to buy if. Don't let any one prevent you from doing it, for it will make you independent for life."

The above is the first direct intimation that the Doctor contemplated suicide.

"My dear precious. I have not the slightest fear or objection to passing away. All will be well I trust, and I do it willingly and cheerfully, satisfied in my own mind it is the best fear or objection to passing away. All will be well I trust, and I do it willingly and cheerfully, satisfied in my own mind it is the best course. You publish the book as soon as possible, and work it for your advantage.

"Ask Judge Macon to please guard my name as much as possible, and reply sharply to any newpaper articles that maylassert, as they will, that I am afraid to meet a new trial. But this is enough for to-day. How I hate to leave you, but it is the only way, for you must have the money. I propose to chat with you often and I know you can keep it. My only dearest love, God bless you; iod keep you forever. Goodby for to-day.

The Musical Mutual Protective Union, which has been for thirty years without permanent headquarters of its own, took formal possesalon yesterday of the club house, the Old Homestead, Ninety-first street and Third avenue. The opening of its club house was celebrated by a parade of the local branches, obrated by a parade of the local branches, preceded by a band, from the old headquarters, 62 East Fourth street, which consisted merely off an office, to the new home. The paraders halted in front of the home of Aisxander Bromer, President of the union, and Mrs. Bromer presented to them an American flag and a flag of the union. A meeting was held in the reception room, and the building was formally handed over by George H. Griebel, the architect, to Leopold Funkenstein, Chairman of the Building Committee.
